NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN LEWIS AND OPERATORS RESUME

Tojo and 27 Other Leaders Indicted for War Crimes

JAPS CHARGED WITH MURDER AND CONSPIRACY TO HAMMER WORLD INTO A SLAVE STATE

Three Categories of Accusations Made Against Nip-pone to Bring Out 18-Year Story of Bloody Bid For Supreme Power

EMPEROR HIROHITO NOT INCLUDED IN THE LIST

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

Tokyo, April 29.—(P)—Japan's warlord Hideki Tojo and 27 other militaristic leaders were indicted by the Allies today as war criminals. They will be arraigned on May 3 on 55 specific charges ranging from murder of thousands of Americans on Pearl Harbor Day—to conspiracy to hammer the whole world into slave states of the Axis.

Defense counsel are expected to be given reasonable time to prepare their cases before trials begin before an 11-nation tribunal.

Tribunal members heard Chief Allied Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan read the indictments at the Japanese war ministry building, then called

Council Set For Probe Of Franco Spain

New York, April 29.—(P)—The United Nations Security Council is expected to order an investigation of Franco Spain today unless Soviet Russia, only opponent of the move, delays action by attempting to invoke the veto.

As the delegates prepared to meet at 3 p. m., they were lined up 10 to 1 in favor of Australia's latest proposal to set up a five-nation subcommittee to determine whether the Franco regime is threatening the world peace.

The council, with this same lineup, had been prepared to vote for the investigation Friday, but, in the hope that Russia might reverse position and make the vote unanimous, it agreed to defer action until this afternoon.

At least one delegate—Rafaelo La Colina of Mexico—attempted to win Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko over to the side of unanimity in the interest of humanity, but there was no evidence that he was successful.

At the time De La Colina talked with Gromyko he was understood to have held firm to his position that sufficient facts already are available to prove that the Franco regime is a menace to peace and that no further investigation is necessary.

Whether the Soviet delegate planned to try to block the resolution by invoking the veto was a subject of wide speculation over the weekend, but Gromyko remained silent on his plans.

Some delegates agreed, however, that this was a possibility which could be taken into consideration. By attempting to invoke the veto, it was pointed out, Gromyko had little to gain beyond getting the council involved in a lengthy discussion of the controversial veto question and delaying a final vote.

OLD BATTLEWAGONS ON WAY TO TESTING SITE

Long Beach, Calif., April 29.—(P)—Three old battlewagons turned toward the Bikini still waters to be used as guinea pigs in the coming atomic bomb tests.

They are the battleship Pennsylvania and the cruisers Salt Lake City and Pensacola. The Pennsylvania, commissioned in 1916 and damaged in the Pearl Harbor attack, left here yesterday.

Two more battleships, the Nevada and Arkansas, are scheduled to depart for the Pacific testing site Wednesday.

Executive May Intervene In Clash Over Famine Relief

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic Reporter

Washington, April 29.—(P)—With food becoming a powerful weapon in world politics, clashing state and agriculture department views over American famine relief methods appear certain today to reach President Truman for decision.

The state department under acting Secretary Dean Acheson is demanding much more drastic measures—such as seizure of some wheat reserves in the hands of farmers—than the agriculture department under Secretary Clinton Anderson has been willing to go to order into effect.

These supplies go and what is done with them. Acheson's responsibility is shared, however, with Secretary of War Robert Patterson, under whose direction are American occupation forces in Germany and Japan.

The sharp difference between Anderson and Acheson was brought to light finally Saturday. The agriculture secretary, returning from a midwest tour, predicted swelling supplies of grain once spring planting is done and called for greater cooperation to meet deficits in grain exports.

Twenty-four hours earlier Acheson had indicated at a news conference his belief that cooperative methods had failed. Saying much more drastic measures would be needed to get the grain abroad, he added that the solution could lie in seizing the wheat or flour as necessary to meet shipment schedules.

'Stand By for Further Orders, Colonel'

(NEA Telephoto)
T/Sgt. Bass H. Lewis, Jr., of Columbus, Ga., the millionth man to be shipped overseas from the Camp Kilmer, N. J., port of embarkation, was asked when he left in October, 1944, what GI day-dream he'd like to see materialize on his return to the U. S. "All I want," he replied, "is a meal in bed served by a full colonel." Lewis came home the other day and, as the above picture shows, realized his dream. New York's Hotel Astor supplied the bed and Camp Kilmer Colonel Joseph Snyder, of Buffalo, the service.

Labor Angle of Campaign to Be Revealed During the Week

Harrisburg, April 29.—(P)—The labor angle of Pennsylvania's 1946 political campaign gets attention Friday at the CIO-Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council convention at Pittsburgh. The conclave opens tomorrow.

The state CIO unit has set aside Friday of the convention program for its Political Action Committee, with endorsement of candidates expected to be made, especially in congressional contests.

Democratic state headquarters listed an appearance at the convention of its entire slate of state-wide candidates, headed by U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, for re-election, and John S. Rice, for governor.

No announcement has been made as to whether Republican candidates will appear at the CIO convention but the AFL-Pennsylvania Federation of Labor scheduled addresses by Guffey and Governor Martin is the organization-backed candidate for the Republican nomination for the senate.

Rice told the Polish American Citizens' League in Philadelphia yesterday that Governor Martin and Mayor Bernard Samuel should "implement the president's plea for help to the starving people of Europe."

He asked that they "issue official proclamations designating one week for the collection of clothing and foodstuffs designating one week for the collection of clothing and foodstuffs and other necessities for the people of Europe and Asia."

U. S. Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace told a Jackson Day dinner audience at York on Saturday that reelection of Joseph F. Guffey as U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania was essential in order to give President Truman the tools to work with in carrying through the administration's reconversion.

Fast Time Is Causing Row In Clearfield

Clearfield, April 29.—(P)—All dairymen producing milk in the Clearfield area today threatened to call a strike for tomorrow morning unless the borough goes back to Eastern Standard Time.

Some 50 to 100 milk producers scheduled a meeting at 9 a. m. tomorrow to decide their next step, after notifying Burgess J. S. Hills they planned to halt all deliveries unless Daylight Saving Time was abandoned.

The farmers, who deliver all the milk to the towns' two dairies, told the burgess they objected to Daylight Saving Time because it interfered with farm operations, their hired help did not like it because it prevented their enjoying evenings in town and added fast time lowered milk production because the cows objected to having their milking hour changed.

The dairymen said that if they stopped deliveries to the Clearfield Dairy and the Miller Dairy tomorrow, retail deliveries would be halted Wednesday. They said no plans have been made yet for serving hospitals or families with infants.

RIOTING MARS FREE ELECTION IN GERMANY

Conservative Rural Voters Give Church-Supported Party Almost Two to One Lead

SWASTIKAS IN BAVARIA

BY RICHARD O'REGAN

Frankfurt, April 29.—(P)—Germany's fast growing new political party, the right-of-center Christian Social Union, won an overwhelming victory in weekend county council elections in the American zone, marred by rioting and pro-Nazi activity.

Conservative rural voters gave the church-supported party almost a two to one lead over its nearest rival, the slightly left wing Social Democrats.

The Communist party polled only a bare 5.4 percent of the 3,133, 347 votes cast in the second free election in the area in 13 years.

While 6,043 elected county officials took their seats on rural councils today, four United States army agencies were investigating a street battle between German voters and more than 5,000 Jewish displaced persons at Diessen in Bavaria.

Six persons were reported still in hospitals out of 18 treated for stab wounds and beatings in the riot which finally was quelled by American soldiers.

Search was underway today for two Jewish guards whose disappearance prompted the displaced persons to rush the German polls after a report circulated that the guards had been murdered by civilians.

Counter-espionage agents were probing the appearance of Nazi Swastikas in another Bavarian town and the setting fire to a Communist meeting hall.

A series of disorders in other Bavarian towns characterized the county council elections held throughout the American zone yesterday. U. S. officials denied, however, reports that two deaths had occurred, although American troops hemmed in by rioting masses of displaced persons, were forced to fire into the air to break up the milling mob at Diessen.

The trouble began in Diessen, according to military government officials, when between 5,000 and 6,000 Jews swarmed into the town which is 34 miles southwest of Munich, accused the Germans of murdering two Jewish guards and then rushed the polling booths.

Five and a half hours later the riot was quelled and American soldiers forced the displaced persons back to their camp. An early curfew was imposed on the town. Twenty-five of the rioters were arrested, but 1,000 Jews in mass formation blocked M.P.'s from arresting three others.

A curfew was also clamped on three other Bavarian towns, where U. S. Counter-Intelligence agents and German police are investigating election eve disorders.

Marshall who has been conferring almost ceaselessly in recent days with Chiang and Communist leader Gen. Chou En-Lai in an effort to reach an agreement, gave the order to transfer his headquarters to Nanking tomorrow.

The Communist spokesman confirmed that negotiations had ended in Chungking, but said they would be resumed in a few days in Nanking, where the Communist delegation is moving.

Chiang Kai-Shek also is expected to go to Nanking May third. Marshall's headquarters still was silent regarding progress of the negotiations but Chinese sources said the generalissimo had rejected a Democratic League formula for truce in Manchuria, leaving the Communists in control of Harbin and Changchun, the capital.

These sources said Chiang is depending upon his armies to reconquer Changchun before agreeing to a truce.

Marshall met with Chou this morning and Chiang later. A possibility that negotiators may reach an acceptable plan before leaving Chungking still existed, however, since Marshall is spending every available minute in conferences with the two leaders.

There was no hint of the intentions of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, who would make the government's final decision on any cease fire proposal. Marshall's headquarters also was silent concerning the reported truce proposal.

If the proposal were approved, fighting would halt and both government and Chinese Communist forces would be frozen in their positions.

ERIE TRAFFIC FATALITY
Erie, April 29.—(P)—Harrison Mallory, 46, of Buffalo, N. Y., died in Hamot Hospital today of injuries received April 26 when hit by an automobile as he crossed an intersection here.

LIVENGOD TALKS ON SHORTAGES OF NYLONS

Harrisburg, April 29.—(P)—William S. Livengood, Jr., Pennsylvania's secretary of internal affairs, told the Keystone state women to blame the shortage of nylon and rayon hosiery "on the government."

Reviewing a survey by his department's bureau of statistics, Livengood said "many Pennsylvania hosiery manufacturers trace the present scarcity of hosiery to government regulations and unwise bureaucratic decisions."

Willingness of Russia To Compromise On Vital Issues Eases Tension at Conference

By LOUIS NEVIN

Paris, April 29.—(P)—An apparent willingness by Russia to compromise on several highly controversial issues eased the tension at the foreign ministers' conference here today as delegates resumed the task of preparing a new peace for Europe.

Despite Soviet opposition to an American request that the Austrian question be placed on the agenda, members of the United States delegation said they were encouraged by the Russian attitude of conciliation on other matters.

The deputy foreign ministers met again this morning to outline the program for their chiefs, who are slated to hold their fourth session this afternoon at Luxembourg Palace, with James F. Byrnes, U. S. secretary of state, presiding.

United States sources cited these three "compromises" as an indication of the apparent new Soviet attitude:

1. The Russians agreed to allow the French delegates to participate in discussion of Balkan treaties. The Russians previously had maintained that these treaties should be drafted by Britain, the United States and Russia.

2. The Russians agreed, according to authoritative reports, to leave Italy a basic naval fleet and to divide the remainder of the Italian ships among the four major powers after satisfying claims of Yugoslavia and Greece. Russia thus retreated from her previous demand for a third of the fleet, these reports said.

3. The Russians reportedly dropped their Yalta reparations formula of first setting an over-all, global figure and then finding means of payment. They are now believed to favor a British and American proposal that the victorious powers should first find out how much the vanquished can pay without going bankrupt.

That much was known definitely, but White House confidants for the most part declined to verify this speculation: (1) That either Robert H. Jackson or William O. Douglas will be moved up to head the court and (2) that Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, a Republican, will be added to its membership.

Jackson, a close friend of Mr. Truman, is serving as Chief U. S. prosecutor at the Nazi war crimes trials in Nurnberg and probably would not return to the bench before the June adjournment even if he gets the nod. The new court term opens in October.

Mr. Truman's concern over the dwindling coal supply was reflected in the solemn demeanor of Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, who accompanied the president back to Washington from Quantico, Va., after a week-long vacation.

Snyder told reporters he could offer little tangible hope for an early settlement of the 29-day walkout.

The reconversion chief reportedly told the president that if the 400,000 soft coal miners remain out of the pits another two weeks the paralyzing effect of the strike will be felt all over the country.

The president thus far has left final responsibility up to Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach, who is making desperate efforts to get John L. Lewis and the operators together in a resumption of negotiations by tomorrow.

ALLEGHENY COLLEGE GIVEN BIG BEQUEST

Philadelphia, April 29.—(P)—Allegheny College, Meadville, will receive approximately $200,000 from the estate of Mrs. Harriet P. Twining, who died Oct. 16, 1944.

An orphan's court accounting filed here places the value of Mrs. Twining's personal estate at $77,551. She also held power of appointment over $269,892 estate of her late husband, William S. Twining, a graduate of Allegheny.

Mrs. Twining's will, after making certain other bequests, stipulated that the residuary estate go to the Meadville institution. Judge Charles Sinkler ordered $100,000 set aside for payment of taxes.

FOUR SISTERS WED IN UNIQUE QUADRUPLE WEDDING IN DETROIT

Detroit, April 29.—(P)—Four sisters were honeymooning with their bridegrooms today following what was described as an unique quadruple wedding.

The Very Rev. Benjamin T. Hoffiz, pastor of St. George Syrian Orthodox Church, who officiated at the successive ceremonies Sunday, said such a quadruple wedding "in a kidding way," but it was later deemed to be "a good idea."

The brides and their respective groomsmen, all but one from Detroit, were Mary Saieg, 21, and Michael Salhaney; Dorothy, 19, and Louis Snag; Rosie, 18, and Farah Canasi of Havana; and Helen, 22, and George Saieg, no relation.

The family, two of whose members were married in a double ceremony last year, said the idea for the quadruple wedding originated "in a kidding way," but it was later deemed to be "a good idea."

The brides and their respective groomsmen, all but one from Detroit, were Mary Saieg, 21, and Michael Salhaney; Dorothy, 19, and Louis Snag; Rosie, 18, and Farah Canasi of Havana; and Helen, 22, and George Saieg, no relation.

CONFERENCES ARE HELD IN WASHINGTON

Social Mediators Representing Labor Department Sit In On Strike Parley

SUPPLY IS DIMINISHING

Washington, April 29.—(P)—The labor department said today negotiations between John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators, broken off April 10, will be resumed immediately.

Speaking on behalf of the department, Les Eichel, press representative, said the joint conferences will be resumed in the labor department conference rooms at 2:30 p. m., with Special Mediators Edward F. McGrady and Paul W. Fuller sitting in.

Eichel made the announcement after a 90-minute conference this morning between Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach and Lewis and his negotiating committee.

The secretary met with the operators' negotiating committee yesterday. A representative said the producers had stood pat on their refusal to commit themselves in advance to a union-administered health and welfare fund, a point on which the negotiations founded April 10. Lewis has declined to discuss wages until the point is settled.

Schwelmbach himself will attend the reopening of the negotiations.

Pittsburgh, April 29.—(P)—Start of the soft coal strike's fifth week today found steel ingot operations at but 54.5 percent of theoretical capacity in Pittsburgh and the threat of an electricity "brownout" arising in Chicago, the nation's second largest steel center.

Steel output in Pittsburgh had dropped to almost one-half the 90 percent rate in effect when the strike of 400,000 AFL bituminous miners began April 1. Hardest hit here was Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, with district production down to 22 percent.

Chicago operations of Carnegie-Illinois, largest steel-making subsidiary of the U. S. Steel Corp., have shrunk to less than 50 percent of capacity this week. The firm has announced it will shut down Chicago area operations entirely by June 1 unless the coal strike is settled.

Announcing its coal stockpile will hold out only until May 21, the Commonwealth Edison Group of Power companies said it would petition the Illinois Commerce Commission today to restrict use of electric current in Chicago and northern Illinois. Commission Chairman John D. Biggs said some form of "brownout" would be considered.

If 18,000 independent progressive mine workers strike tomorrow, as they have threatened, the coal shutdown would be complete in Illinois.

The 75,000 Pennsylvania anthracite miners of UMW Chief John L. Lewis, whose negotiations with operators open at New York May 10, have filed a 30-day strike notice. Their contract expires May 31.

While the government renewed efforts at Washington to settle the bituminous strike, effects of the 29-day-old coal stoppage mounted in the nation's industrial and economic life. The strike has already idled 60,000 persons in related industries, mostly steel.

EMPEROR HAS BIRTHDAY
Tokyo, April 29.—(P)—Unlike bygone days when between 25,000 and 30,000 people used to gather at Nijubashi bridge, the emperor's entrance to the palace grounds, to wish Japan's ruler a "happy birthday" only several hundred were present today. Most of them were American GIs. The emperor is 45.

Regulation On Delivery Of Milk To Remain Unchanged

The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission issued orders today covering fifteen Pennsylvania milk Marketing Areas in which dealers and handlers of milk are prohibited from delivering milk to retail customers more than once in any forty-eight hour period and limiting deliveries to wholesale customers to six days in any one week, except that Sunday deliveries are permitted in cases where handlers furnish full truck load to one consignee. Special deliveries to customers are also prohibited.

Restricted delivery orders originated by virtue of orders issued through the Federal Office of Defense Transportation. At the expiration of these Federal orders on October 31, 1945, the Commission issued temporary restrictive orders with a termination date of April 30, 1946. A great majority of dealers operating in the areas for which orders have been written favor the retention of restricted delivery orders due to the fact that delivery equipment is still not available in sufficient quantity to allow daily deliveries of milk. It has also been found that economies arising from restricted delivery provide lower delivery costs which should eventually be of benefit to both consumers and producers.

Therefore, in response to a petition from the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers, a hearing was held in Harrisburg on April 18, 1946 at which time all interested parties were given an opportunity to present testimony for or against restricted deliveries. As a result of this hearing and a further conference held in the Commission Offices on April 24, 1946 as provided by the Milk Control Law, the Commission has arrived at the conclusion stated above.

Two Groups of Men Leave For Pre-Induction Tests

Class Given Degree Work Here Sunday

Warren Aerie of Eagles on Sunday had one of the most enjoyable affairs that the local organization has ever had. During the afternoon a special meeting was held which was attended by Eagles from Kane, Brookville and other towns in this section. A class of 45 was initiated at the meeting and the crack degree team of the Meadville Lodge performed the work. This is one of the finest tests in this section and their precision work won much applause.

Several spoke at the meeting and C. Rice, District Deputy of Meadville delivered a stirring talk on the order and its aims and accomplishments.

Following the meeting dinner was served to 250 persons and a fine menu had been prepared and the serving was all that could have been desired.

After the dinner a floor show was given. All of the acts won rounds of applause and furnished some excellent entertainment. The affair was well attended and proved one of the really happy events in the history of the local branch of the order.

Local Canine Wins Third In Field Trials

Buffalo, N. Y., April 28.—(P)—Dogs owned and handled by S. Wesley Palmer of Snyder held top honors today following the Buffalo trap and field club's 23rd annual spring field trials held over the weekend on a 47-mile course in nearby Tonawanda.

Palmer's Tom, a pointer, won the open derby stake yesterday, while on Saturday, Palmer's Linda, a pointer bitch, took first place in the open all-age stake.

Palmer's Tom won over Texas Ranger's Revelation, pointer bitch owned and handled by Dale L. Young, East Aurora, and Criss-Cross, a setter owned by George Haehn, of Warren, Pa., took third place.

The open shooting dog event yesterday was won by Sumner Shire-Jerry, pointer owned and handled by Charles Isaac, Rochester, with Diamond Jack, pointer owned and handled by W. A. Lucas, Ridgway, Pa., second.

In the open puppy stake, Spunk's East Stride, a pointer owned by C. L. Holman of Bridgeville, Pa., took third.

Under a new set-up for the National Guard of Pennsylvania recruiting of 26,702 officers and men in more than 60 communities in the state will be started in June with 13,261 more to be added later. Maj. Gen. E. J. Stackpole, Jr., announced the recruiting plans last week following Gov. Edward Martin's notification to the National Guard Bureau in Washington that Pennsylvania was ready to "go."

The 112th Regiment of which Company I of this city is a part will be enlarged with the other regiments of the guard. Company I will be enlarged to 195 men as will all of the infantry companies of the regiment. Headquarters will be moved to Erie but battalion headquarters will be in Kane.

Farm House And Contents Are Destroyed

Fire starting from some unknown cause yesterday afternoon destroyed the large frame farm house on the farm owned by Leon Mitchell, three miles west of Sugar Grove and about two miles east of Lottsville. The farm was occupied by John Heminger. The outbreak of the fire was noted and the telephone wires were burned off so that a girl had to ride a bicycle to the home of a neighbor to summon the Sugar Grove fire department. This caused some delay in the firemen getting to the scene.

On arrival they found the house ablaze in all portions and flames were fanned by heavy breeze which was blowing adding to the difficulty of the fire fighters. Lack of water also hampered their efforts. However they did succeed in saving several other smaller buildings on the farm, one of which was within 15 feet of the blazing home.

All of the furniture and clothing of the Heminger family was burned and their loss is a severe one. The home was valued at $5000 and the contents at $2500 additional. All were a total loss.

Heminger, his wife and three small children occupied the home and with them lived Mrs. Wilbur Anthony with her three small children. They too lost their clothing and personal effects.

Former Gas Co. Official Passes Away

Charles T. Sloan, identified with various natural gas industries for nearly 50 years, died at 7 a. m. Sunday at his home, 602 Maret street, following a long illness. He was born at Bradford on October 20, 1882.

He began his career in 1898, when he was employed during the summer by the Buffalo Natural Gas and Fuel Company in Buffalo, N. Y. He continued there as a summer employee in 1899 and 1900. In 1901, he became an electrolysis inspector for the Buffalo company and also for a group of gas companies in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. In 1902 he became engineer for the Buffalo concern and soon afterward came to Warren in a similar capacity for Pennsylvania Gas Company.

In 1912 the several gas companies in Buffalo and vicinity were reorganized and the Iroquois Natural Gas Company was formed. At that time Mr. Sloan became engineer for the new company. Mr. Sloan returned to Warren as engineer for the Pennsylvania Gas Company on December 1, 1917, and had resided here since that time. He became vice president and director of the Pennsylvania Gas Company and the Pennsylvania Oil Company in January, 1930.

After having spent nearly half a century in the natural gas industry, he retired September 1, 1942, because of ill health. He was a member of Joseph Warren Lodge, No. 726, F. and A. M., and of the Venango Lodge of Perfection of Oil City.

Besides his wife, Ethel, he leaves two children, Miss Margaret E. Sloan, Silver Creek, N. Y., and Mrs. Corwin White, of Middletown, Pa.; also one sister, Mrs. M. B. Spaulding, of Grove City, and one brother, Clarence M. Sloan, East Aurora, N. Y.

Services in his memory will be held from the Lutz Funeral Home at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, rector of Trinity Memorial church. Interment will be made in the Collins Center, N. Y., cemetery.

Water Main To South Side Being Planned

Application has been filed with the State Highway Department by the Warren Water Company for the suspension of a new steel eight inch water main on the Hickory street bridge. It is proposed by the water company, if permission is given, to lay a new line in steel pipe across the bridge to give the Seventh ward a circulating water system.

For some years the eight inch main which is laid under the river near Hazel street has been broken and has not been replaced. The matter has been reported to the Town Council by chiefs of the Fire Department several times. At present the Seventh ward is serviced by an eight inch main and it is the source of water to that side of the city. In event of its being broken at the present time there is no reserve arrangement and the hospital, several factories and all residents would be without water until repairs could be made.

Local Man At Army Dinner In Pittsburgh

William R. Simonsen, county chairman of the Organization of Volunteer Civilian Committee, to cooperate with the Army Recruiting Service, and Captain Frederick A. Hintermister, local recruiting officer, attended a luncheon conference of delegates from northern Pennsylvania, at the Wm. Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh, last Friday.

The purpose of the meeting was to explain to the delegates the procedures which are to be followed in organizing a Volunteer Advisory Committee and the importance of such an organization to the Recruiting Service and the County as a whole.

The principal speaker was Lieutenant Colonel Edward E. Robinson, headquarters, Third Service Command, Baltimore, Maryland.

Record for the lowest normal amount of rainfall of any state of the Union is held by Arizona with 7.8 inches.

RUPTURE SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. SHEVANN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Samuel Hotel, Jamestown, Thursday, May 2, from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Mr. Shevann says: The Zostic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, directing immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly, no matter the size or location, but will increase the circulation, strengthen the weakened parts, and thereby close the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume. A nationally-known scientific method. No unorthodox or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevann will be glad to demonstrate without charge. 6509 N. Artesian Ave., Chicago. Large incisional hernia or rupture following surgical operation especially solicited.

Youngsville Girl Wins Contest With Essay In Club Contest

Florence Freeman, of the Junior Class of the Youngsville High School won the essay contest sponsored by the Ekenshaw Fish and Game Club. The essay was an outstanding one and was as follows:

CONSERVATION OF WILD LIFE ON THE FARM

By Florence Freeman
Junior, Youngsville High School
"Dreamily the cow-bells tinkle
At the closing of the day;
And the music wafts to us
Seems so far—so far away!
As if coming down the days gone by
From the fields where children trod,
Drive home the gentle cattle,
Thro' bright, waving goldenrod."

Mildred Tate Wells.
The American farmer works and plans in many ways to get the best use out of his land. But the one thing he sometimes forgets is the importance of wildlife on his farm. The two fundamental requirements of wildlife are a food supply and adequate cover. He can, with a little effort, supply these essentials without much if any, cost. If he refrains from doing things that are harmful to wildlife, such as burning pastures, cutting all growth along fences and gullies, and grazing all of a woodlot, he will be well repaid. It is nearly always possible to increase the supply of wild life without interfering with regular crops. By utilizing waste spaces such as fence corners, creek bottoms, woodlots, and wasteland, the farmer can provide sufficient food and cover for wildlife.

Food for wildlife—a variety of nuts, berries and seeds—can be provided the whole year around. Cover for wildlife should be distributed throughout the farm and the various covers should be connected by brushy lanes for use of wildlife in moving from place to place. A farm having wooded swamps, grown-up fence rows, weeds, standing grain, and crop stubble can support much more wildlife than one which has only wooded swamps or standing grain or any other single wildlife habitat. This is because an assortment of cover conditions increases the number of both species and individuals.

The farmer may ask, "How can I provide food and cover without much cost or use of valuable land?" There are many ways to answer this question, all of them good. A row of shrubs and briars along a fence furnishes quail and other wildlife with a safe highway along which to travel from place to place while making a temporary home on his land. A few rows of grain or a few shocks of corn left near good cover will furnish food during winter when food is hard to find. Brush piles can be placed handily in pastures and woodlots as emergency cover for game birds and animals. A small dam can be constructed in a nearby stream to provide water for cattle, encourage fish life and make a home for muskrats.

Next he may ask, "How can I help wildlife and at the same time benefit myself and my land?" This question, too, has many answers. Strips of brush and briars along gullies prevent soil erosion and provide wildlife with food supplies and travel lanes. Evergreen trees serve as windbreaks, provide income when sold as Christmas trees and furnish excellent cover for wildlife. Stream bank control helps wildlife, provides better conditions for fish and muskrats, and assists in preventing soil erosion. By encouraging insect-eating birds, farmers can save thousands of dollars every year. Cover in marshy areas near cultivated fields provides excellent conditions for quail and ringneck pheasants. They are also valuable places for muskrats, which are the most important of all the fur-bearing animals.

Wild life and game birds provide much enjoyment for the farmer or the sportsman. They are also a means of obtaining food for the farmer's family. The farm boy, living where wildlife is abundant, is happy and contented.

"And certain fields and certain trees
were my friends to me,
And I knew the birds, and I owned a dog and we both could hear and see.
Oh never from the tongues of men have dropped
such messages wholly glad
As the things that live in the great outdoors
once told to a little lad."

Edgar A. Guest.

St. Paul's Church To Be Host To Conference of Lutherans

The 76th annual convention of the New York Conference, Augustana Synod of North America, will be held May 1-5 in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Water street at Second avenue.

Pastors and delegates from the 109 congregations located in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Washington, D. C., Florida, Virginia, Alabama and Ohio are expected to be in attendance, each parish being represented by its pastor and one lay delegate.

The Rev. Dr. Felix V. Hanson, Jamestown, N. Y., who has been serving as president of the Conference for 23 years, will open the convention on Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock, and will deliver the convention sermon at that time. He will preside at all sessions.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Conference will be meeting simultaneously, and will also send delegates. Mrs. Edwin S. Carlson, Titusville is president of this group and will preside at all of its meetings. The missionary meetings will be held in First Lutheran church, the first session on Thursday morning, when Rev. Nore G. Gustafson, host pastor, will address the group.

Several outstanding Lutheran Leaders will be among those having a prominent part in the convention sessions, and at least one former pastor of the parish, Rev. Carl Jacobson, Williamsport, will appear on the program.

Delegates will be housed in the homes of members. In tourist homes, and at the Hotel Carver. Luncheons and suppers will be served in the church, with Lewis in charge of serving.

All services of the convention are open to the public and a cordial welcome will be extended to all interested.

Further details of the five-day convention will be announced in these columns tomorrow.

Committee To Study Farm Labor Needs Of The County

County Agent O. C. Tritt announces that the Emergency Farm Labor Committee for Warren County, which has aided during the past three years, again is assisting in studying and anticipating farm labor needs for the coming season. Members of the committee are: H. L. Blair, Court House, Warren; A. H. Bradley, Akeley; H. A. Ludwick, Akeley; Arnett Carter, Bear Lake; Charles Camp, Torpedo; F. P. McCollough, North Warren; H. B. Pettit, 311 W. 5th Ave., Warren; Ralph Wagner, 516 4th Ave.; Frank Parker, 230 Penna. Ave., Warren.

This committee co-operates with Cecil Winans, the Emergency Farm Labor Assistant for this county, in enrolling and placing workers, both on a year-round basis and for seasonal demands.

Last year the Emergency Farm Labor offices listed a total of 80,682 placements of workers in Pennsylvania. Present indications show the need for 1946 to be as great as, if not greater than in 1945.

In Warren County, the Emergency Farm Labor Office made a total of 2467 placements during 1945. Many of these were high school boys and girls, recruited for harvesting various fruit and vegetable crops, over and above those utilized for farm crops.

As last year, emphasis will be placed on utilizing whatever help, or volunteers, can be recruited within a comparatively short distance of those places where they are needed. In this manner, short haul transportation can provide workers where they can be used most efficiently. Labor camps will be established only in those areas where no local help is available and where specialized crops must be handled rapidly.

The Emergency Farm Labor office for Warren County is located at 220 Liberty street, Warren and the telephone number is 3090.

Step Toward Making Easier "Washdays"

Another step toward making workless washdays for women of Warren was announced today.

A trained home service specialist, schooled in the best laundering techniques and in solving washability problems, goes into the homes of new owners of Bendix Automatic Home Laundries and gives the family a flying start on achieving a "workless washday," according to Mr. Kieshauser, manager of Turner Radio Shop.

"To give Bendix customers full benefit of their machines and of modern laundering methods and to assist them with the washability problems arising with the introduction of new fabrics, Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., manufacturer of the pioneer automatic washing machines, has established a home service program that is second to none in the appliance industry," Mr. Kieshauser said.

More than 2,500 trained field specialists are on the job throughout the nation helping thousands of emancipated housewives realize the full versatility of their machines as a cleaner of garments, linens, draperies, woolen blankets and other items.

Within a day after a Bendix is installed, the field specialist calls and supervises the housewife as she does her family washing the new way.

"So revolutionary is the 'workless washday' brought by the automatic washer," observed, "that most women, tied by habit to old methods, would feel a bit strange in handling a machine which does all their work for them. Trained to know the answers to common washability problems, our home service specialist in 'filling the bill' very satisfactorily."

Our store's specialist Mrs. Caldwell was trained by Miss Dyleski, Home Service Director for Tri-State Appliance Distributors, at Erie, Pa.

Approximately 85,000 pounds of edible nuts for commercial consumption are produced in Illinois annually.

GARLAND

Garland, April 26—Miss Myrtle Norman left Tuesday for her teaching duties in Akron, Ohio, after spending her Easter vacation here with relatives.

Norman Taylor and Robert Bugher spent the weekend in Pittsburgh. Easter passed quietly and pleasantly in Garland. Rev. Chitester held a special service in the Methodist church which was well attended and several residents attended services elsewhere.

The beautiful day brought out heavy traffic and friends and relatives enjoyed family gatherings.

The Capsule Club exchanged their first gifts to their recently chosen friends for the year. Many of the members displaying attractive Easter gifts and speculating as from whom they came. The club decided when they organized that Easter was the appropriate time to remember their new friends for their first gift, plants and flowers at that time being so much appreciated following the long weary winter.

Mrs. Tyler and daughter Autumn Matych enjoyed Easter Sunday as guests of the Anderson sisters at the Pittsfield Inn. They came for them before breakfast early Easter morning and they enjoyed the glory of the Easter day as this was the first time Mrs. Tyler had been away from her home following an illness that kept her house bound all winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith and children and Miss Myrtle Norman motored to Erie on Saturday where they attended the wedding reception of their cousin Robert Brooks son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks.

The groom is a grandson of Mrs. A. J. Brooks now of Akron, Ohio but formerly a resident of Pittsfield.

Mrs. N. Thompson spent Saturday with her daughter, Ida N. Taylor here.

Six Decades With a Tiptop Tapper

SIXTY years ago, a seven-year-old pickaninny who had been raised by his slave grandmother danced onto a stage in Richmond, Va., and took the first step in a career that was to make the name of Bill Robinson famous. From dancing for pennies in the streets, young Bill tapped his way on to the big-time vaudeville circuits, appearances at highspots like Tony Pastor's and in the movies and on the legitimate stage. Above are some of the highlights of his career. Left to right, with George Cooper in their vaudeville act; dancing with Shirley Temple in "The Little Colonel," as the star of the "Hot Mikado," which played Broadway and the World's Fair, and as he appears at the Zanibar in New York now, where he is still going strong at 67.

PETER E. NELSON

Private funeral rites were held Sunday afternoon for Peter E. Nelson, a kindly citizen, friendly acquaintance and a loyal booster for Warren, who passed away peacefully at his home in Fourth avenue Thursday night, after a lingering illness which was borne with patience and fortitude that was characteristic of his all to brief span of life in the community of Irvine and Warren.

Those who admired the vigor and the determination of "Pete" to surmount obstacles, to render community service and to spread real optimism are grieved over his passing. He had not been well for the past two years. Despite the fact that there had been for some time little hope for his ultimate recovery there is widespread sorrow that his quiet and unreserved personality has been removed from our midst.

In his church, fraternal and club affiliations, with the Warren National Bank where he had been a member of the board of directors as well as trust officer and other business activities, Mr. Nelson was ever an active and encouraging force. An attorney of long experience his advice and opinions often solicited were always volunteered after careful and thoughtful consideration.

A past exalted ruler of the Warren Lodge of Elks and a past president of the Kiwanis club, he had served both organizations in these important capacities with unstinted and unwavering devotion. High honors in both organizations he chose to decline rather than to sacrifice time and effort for other self-sacrificing activities such as his membership on the board of directors of the Warren General hospital.

Friendly counsellor to old and young, inspiring in all his contacts, such a fine citizen is missed beyond expression of mere words.

Pete packed a lot of energy, and expended it all in the finest cause of all—serving his fellow man. Quiet and unobtrusive he leaves his mark in daily contact with so many even after he was stricken with the illness that resulted in his passing.

CIRCUS AND SPRING

For some people it's spring when the storm windows come down and the screens go up; for others when the grass has to be cut for the first time, or when the children go violet-picking or mother airs the mattresses. But the surest sign of all is when circuses rumble out of winter quarters and start their tours. They're on the move right now—elephants and lions; monkeys and zebras; the endless paraphernalia, sometimes on railroad flat cars, more often carried inside huge flamboyantly painted trucks.

The circus posters announcing the coming event will be going up soon in towns and cities. Children will be counting the days. Spring has officially arrived.

Johnny Appleseed did a great job for the folks of America by wandering over the land planting apple seeds as he went. Now the Brokenstraw Fish and Game Club proposes to plant nut trees in the county. The Youngsville boys may never be as famous as old Johnny but they are entitled to a lot of credit for their effort.

Improvement of the highway from Venturatown up over Yankee Bush will be one road that is really appreciated. Yankee Bush is a favored drive with hundreds due to its scenic beauty and long vistas of farm lands in their varied patterns.

The magnitude of the new building project of the Penelec west of Warren is beginning to loom on many Warren people who have driven down that way. The new generating plant will be the last word in efficient generation of electricity from coal and the installations will be most modern.

A learned musicologist has advanced the theory that it was a bagpipe, and not a fiddle, that Nero played while Rome was burning. Here, perhaps, we have the classic ancestor of our modern fire siren.

Washington Daybook

By CHARLES MOLONY

(For Jack Stinnett)

WASHINGTON—Considerable responsibility for Uncle Sam's acts as chief banker to the world rests upon a personable 39-year-old, William McChesney Martin, Jr.

Martin is chairman and president of the Export-Import Bank, principal foreign lending agency of the U.S. At 32, he was the $48,000-a-year president of the New York Stock Exchange and at 34 a $21-a-month Army private—the nation's most-publicized pre-Pearl Harbor draftee. (He won colonel's eagles by war's end.)

Martin has a friendly manner, soft voice, easy chuckle. His interests run to serious matters, discussed with quiet humor. He's above average height, dark-haired, still boyish looking. Wears glasses. Has a way of turning questions away from himself, although he doesn't dodge them.

MARTIN neither smokes nor drinks. Leads a quiet life in which his wife (the former Miss Cynthia Davis, daughter of former Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis) and young daughter have a big part.

Likes to read, mostly informal stuff. Graduated from Yale (1928) but has gone to night school much of the time since—eventually with the Stock Exchange and the Army—taking law and finance courses.

Had "rather play tennis than eat" but now gets little time for it.

Was born in St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 17, 1906. Started work after college in Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, where his father was an executive. A year later, he joined a brokerage firm in St. Louis, then went on to New York.

He won the presidency of the Stock Exchange as a "reform candidate" after the sentencing of Richard Whitney, former president, to Sing Sing.

He was drafted April 16, 1941, eight months before Pearl Harbor. As an officer, he served on the two military boards that handled the big job of supplying Russia and other fighting allies in the war with U.S. and Canadian materials.

MARTIN says he'd never thought about the government post he holds (at $15,000 a year) until, while vacationing after release from the Army, he received a call from President Truman asking him to serve on the board of the "X-M" bank.

He was approved by the Senate and sworn into office within a week after being nominated last Nov. 26. Right away he became the bank's chairman and two months later took over the duties of president when Wayne C. Taylor resigned.

The already extensive foreign lending activities of Martin's bank will become even more important if Congress approves President Truman's new international economic program.

The bank's lending capital would be upped from $3,500,000 to $4,750,000,000. Russia, France, China and all other nations except Britain that seek loans from Uncle Sam would have to deal exclusively with it.

Martin looks on the Export-Import Bank's work as not primarily a money-lending job, though its loans are on a "business basis" and show a sizeable profit so far, but one of "supplying lubricating grease for the motor of our foreign trade."

in three weeks.

The local American Legion post will ask the borough park commission to erect a flagpole in Memorial Park. It is hoped that the dedication can be made June 14, Flag Day.

In 1936
Rev. John E. Bowes, of St. Paul, Minn., will be in charge of a conference of Methodist laymen who will meet at the Grace Methodist church. The group will plan a World Service Program.

Deer are becoming an increasing nuisance to farmers in the area. They are even becoming so bold as to graze in groups of six or more in the wheatfields.

Police have arrested eleven card players on the charge of being patrons of a gambling house. The raid, made on a room below the Carver House, was the second

Right Way to Sow Seed Lessens Work and Waste

Bean Seeds Sown in Pairs, Four Inches Apart, Insure Even Stand.

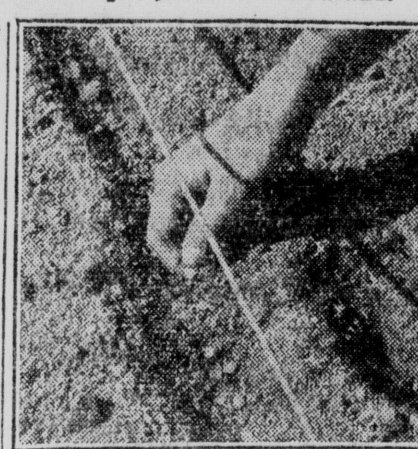

There is good reason for sowing more seeds than will be allowed to grow, but when this is overdone, not only is there a waste of seed, but unnecessary work is created in thinning out. Care in sowing will be repaid many times by reduced work later.

Seeds that germinate slowly, such as carrots, parsley, and parsnips, should be sown more thickly than others because the seedlings are feeble, and the force of many acting together helps break the soil crust and bring the sprouts to the surface.

Liberty H. Bailey, dean of horticultural teachers, expresses this opinion: "It is much safer to sow even excessive amounts of seed, than to sow just as many as are theoretically needed on a basis of the number of mature plants to the row. Thinning is a process of selection, and the best are allowed to remain. It is evident the chances of securing the best are greater when the gardener leaves one plant out of ten, rather than one plant out of three."

But real selection is impossible if seeds are sown so thickly the roots of the tiny plants become entangled, and it is impossible to remove single plants, without disturbing neighbors. The thickest sowing therefore should allow each seed sufficient space to develop as an individual.

The surest way with small seeds is to take a few in the hand, and let them fall through the fingers into the drill which has been prepared. Get close to the ground, and with a little practice you can quickly acquire control so that the seeds will be evenly distributed, each sufficiently distant from the next to prevent entanglement.

Take Small Seeds in Hand and Drop in Drill So Each Can Grow Untangled With Its Neighbors.

Keep the seeds in line as well as you can. It helps to let the garden line which was used in making the drill remain in place until the seeds have been dropped.

It helps to mix the very small seeds with dry sand before you begin to sow, using two or three times as much sand as seed. This spreads the seeds out better.

Large seeds may be sown in pairs, spaced at the distance plants are to stand. If both seeds grow one plant of the pair can be pulled up. Bush beans, for example, give good results when standing four inches apart in the row. By sowing seeds in pairs four inches apart, an even stand is assured. In the case of beans, even if thinning is neglected and the twin plants are allowed to mature together there is little harm, but with plants of a different habit, thinning would be essential.

Just a Year Ago Today—

The last act was near its climax. For days, "surrender" had been whispered in hope, shouted in premature jubilation throughout the Allied world. The word became a reality on a Sunday afternoon, April 29, 1945, when, in the ancient palace of the Kings of Naples at Caserta, Italy, Germany surrendered Italy and Western Austria. In 12 minutes, the time required for victor and vanquished to sign multiple documents, was enacted the first of the closing scenes of the war in Europe. It remained only for the German commander to turn over his troops to Gen. Mark Clark, as pictured above, and to mop up holdout units.

"WE MUST CONQUER

AN APPEAL TO THE PRESS, TO THE PUBLIC IT SERVES...

Cancer"

JOSEPH L. SHERMAN
3513 Onelda Avenue
Altoona, Pa.

March 11, 1946

Mr. Harry L. Johnston
Managing Editor
Altoona Mirror
Altoona, Pa.

Dear Mr. Johnston:

I am 41 years of age and have two daughters, aged 12 and 16. My wife is also 41 years of age, and I am now watching her die of cancer.

Six months ago my wife was apparently one of the healthiest and happiest women of our community. I took her to one of the largest hospitals in our country, where they cut part of her body away. She has suffered every conceivable agony and torture, and I have watched her go blind. The dozens of doctors that examined and tried to help her have always given me the same answer, "I am very sorry, just try to make her comfortable."

She now has a few hours, or perhaps days, to live, and I am deeply grateful that she is no longer suffering, for now she is irrational, and can no longer tell me of her pains or tortures, and there is nothing more left for me to do, but to await her death and to make plans for her burial.

But for the 17,000,000 Americans alive today that are destined to die of cancer, there must be an answer.

Less than 10 years ago there were other dreaded diseases that were spoken of with fear and superstition, but today cures have been found, and no longer are they spoken of in hushed tones.

The cure for cancer is no more inconceivable than the discovery of the cure for these other dreaded diseases. Our nation has spent over $2,000,000,000 to discover the atomic bomb, and still twice as many Americans have died of cancer than were killed between Pearl Harbor and V-J day.

I have but a small voice in a small community, and I am appealing to you with everything at my command to take this letter most seriously. You are the editor of a great publication. You have at your disposal the means and power to let thousands of people learn of this high purpose.

We can conquer cancer, but the public must be aroused. My wife is no longer a part of this world, but there are thousands and thousands of wives, husbands, fathers, mothers, sons and daughters who may be the next victims of this now dreaded scourge. I, also, was most complacent until cancer hit my happy home, but no man, rich or poor, white or black, knows when cancer may strike next.

My wife is dying alone. My life and the lives of my daughters will go on, but we must do something to save other happy families from the same heartbreak and mental torture that we have gone through.

There will be a cure for cancer. Give our great doctors and scientists the means to study. Help raise enough dollars. They will find the cure.

You have the power to bring this cause into the open. True, it may not be good reading to some of your subscribers - but it may help save your life and thousands of their lives.

I do not desire publicity, but I beg of you not to permit this letter to go unheeded. It is people like you that must help. Public opinion must be aroused and money must be raised either privately or through the government. There is no more important mission than to find a cure for a disease that is killing about 13 per cent of our population. We must have a greater research effort, so that the people now doomed may live.

We must conquer cancer, and all of the anguish and suffering and heartbreak that accompanies it - and you are the one to help, now.

Most sincerely,
Joseph L. Sherman

In the final tragic hours before death recently brought an end to the suffering of Mrs. Joseph L. Sherman, prominent Altoona housewife and mother, her husband wrote this letter to the Altoona Mirror, appealing for an aroused public opinion that would unite in a drive to find a cure for cancer. As a result of this letter, that newspaper created the Altoona Mirror Cancer Fund, entire proceeds of which will go to the American Cancer Society, Pennsylvania Division.

SOMETHING CAN BE DONE ABOUT CANCER

The American Cancer Society is going something about it. During the month of April, the Society is attempting to raise $12,000,000 for a three-pronged attack on cancer, aimed at: 1. Education to get people to recognize possible cancer symptoms early and seek treatment in time; 2. Service, in the form of grants to hospitals to obtain more and better equipment for the treatment of cancer, and aid to indigent patients, and 3. To help finance a Nation-wide research program seeking eventual eradication of the disease.

BLUE CROSS PROTECTION

In some sections of Western Pennsylvania, as high as 44% of the population is insured by Blue Cross against unexpected hospital bills.

Members don't wait until they have the money to go to the hospital . . . they go whenever they need hospital care. They just present their Blue Cross card at the desk, and the hospital sends the bill to Hospital Service Association for their care. Think about that . . . and remember that the chances are

1 to 10 you will need hospital care within a year.

WHAT MAKES THE COST
SO LOW

When you join Blue Cross, you share your risk of going to the hospital with all the other 900,000 members in Western Pennsylvania. Besides, nobody makes a profit on Blue Cross. That is why Blue Cross offers so much protection for just a few pennies a month.

Alma Ann Burkhard-J. E. Munksgard United In Saturday Church Ceremonial

At nine o'clock Saturday morning in Holy Redeemer church, Father Arthur Leon united in marriage Alma Ann Burkhard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Burkhard, Ashland, Ky., and James E. Munksgard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Munksgard, 113 Crescent street.

White lilies, stocks and palms were used in a pretty altar decoration for the ceremony. Mrs. Thomas Donnelly, organist, played the traditional wedding selection and accompaniment for the vocalist, Mrs. John Retzer, who sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," "Thou For Whom I've Long Been Singing," and Rosewig's "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned with ivory satin bodice, peplum edged with lace medallions, and small train. Her fingertip veil cascaded from a beaded coronet and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and sweet alyssum centered with pink camellias.

The maid of honor, Dorothy Munksgard, wore blue satin and net; the bridesmaids, Mary Ellen Berdine and Harriet Thomas, wore pink and yellow satin with net, respectively, and carried copies of the bride's bouquet.

The bride's mother wore a light blue gabardine suit, with hat of rose straw. Mrs. Munksgard chose a dress of rose, with navy accessories. Each had a rose corsage.

Chester Munksgard was his brother's best man and ushers were George Phillips, Donald Valentine, Gordon Patchen and Ross Ruhlman.

A reception for 100 guests followed at the American Legion Home from 11 until two. Early spring flowers were used in attractive appointments and white candles flanked the four-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom figures. Presiding were Miss Katherine Young, Mrs. Ann Burkhard, Mrs. Richard Gray, Alice Alexander.

Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Karl Burkhard, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. William Burkhard, Portville, N. Y.; W. H. Burkhard, Florence, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. John Friel and children, Mrs. Blanche Sherry, Buffalo; Mrs. Ann Burkhard, Mrs. Leo Gregory and son, Freddie, Mrs. Sara Hoover, Kane; Miss Katherine Young, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Munksgard, Irvine.

After a week's wedding trip to Buffalo and Canada, Ashland and the derby at Louisville, the couple will reside for the present at 113 Crescent street. For traveling, the bride chose a sand gray suit, black accessories and corsage of pink camellias.

The bride is a graduate of Ashland High School, Class of 1945. Mr. Munksgard was graduated from Warren High School in 1942, was recently discharged after three years of service in the States and overseas, and is now in business with his father.

Hostesses at pre-nuptial parties have been Mrs. M. Rader, Clarendon; Mrs. Munksgard and daughter, Dorothy; Mrs. Richard Gray and Alice Alexander; Mrs. J. Dorsey, Clarendon; Mrs. John Rosson, Ashland.

Thrush - Vrooman Rites Performed In Tidioute Manse

In the presence of the immediate families at the Tidioute Presbyterian manse on April 19, at 8 p. m., Miss Beatrice L. Vrooman, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Tipton, Tidioute, became the bride of C. Roland Thrush son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wayne Thrush Endeavor, with Dr. W. J. Prout, pastor, officiating.

The bride was attired in a street-length dress of gray and white figured crepe, gray off-the-face hat, long white lace gloves, and a corsage of orchids.

He only attendant, Janet Thrush Burd, sister of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue dress, corsage hat, and corsage of red roses. The bride's mother wore a black dress trimmed in equa, black accessories and corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Thrush wore a green and white print, green jacket, white accessories and gardenias corsage.

The bridegroom was attended by Miller Keeley, Endeavor.

A reception was given for the couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morrison, Tidioute, the latter being a cousin of the bride. A delightful luncheon was served and a beautiful three-tier wedding cake with miniature bride figures, out with a sabre brought by the bridegroom from Germany, was enjoyed.

The newlyweds left for a short wedding trip in New York State. The bride chose a black gabardine suit, matching accessories and a gold topper, with orchid corsage, for traveling. They will make their home for the present with the bride's mother in Tidioute.

The bride was graduated from Tidioute High School and Hoff's Business College, and is at present employed at Struthers-Wells in Titusville. The bridegroom was graduated from Shenandoah High School and spent four and one-half years in the army, of which one year was spent overseas with the 4th Infantry Division. He is presently employed by the Endeavor Lumber Company.

Old American Custom

Delegates to the United Nations spring conference in New York are getting lots of their home town "eats," even though they are far from home. The word comes through Gannett, staff writer for NEA and the Times-Mirror, that an American company which specializes in industrial cafeterias has the concession for feeding the delegates—and well. Dick Eykloff is the executive chef of the outfit. He feeds about 2500 "peace police" a day, and remains open from 11 in the morning until two hours after each session closes. Apple pie and coffee is the most popular order with the delegates from all countries. The other day a Russian ordered corned beef and cabbage and a Chinese representative selected pork and beans. Mr. Eykloff serves dishes from all countries, being limited only by the ingredients he can get. Here are just a few: For the Egyptians, banya bour, a combination of chicken, okra and spices; for the Chinese, chow san min, which is fricasseed chicken on noodles with a mushroom and bamboo sprout sauce; for the Brazilians, empada de Comarao, a shrimp and mushroom pie. From The Netherlands he took Jachschot, a hunter's stew, and from Poland, bigos, also a hunter's stew, with beef, pork, game and sauerkraut, vodka and wine.

A Cappella Choir Mail Reservations Presenting Spring Beginning Today Concert Tuesday For "Angel Street"

The A Cappella Choir of Warren High School will present its annual spring concert on Tuesday evening, beginning at 8:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium, the detailed program of events to be announced in these columns tomorrow.

The choir, under the direction of Twila A. Hoover, has prepared a varied program of sacred and secular numbers, concluding with the cantata, "Spring Cometh" by Kountz.

Soloists to be heard during the concert will be Nancy Maneval, Calvin Olson, Mary Mangus and Karol Kirberger. One of the numbers will be a Mother Goose suite sung by nine girls.

Those who heard the spring concert last year, or have heard the choir on other occasions, will not want to miss the presentation tomorrow night. Others are cordially invited to avail themselves of the opportunity of spending a pleasant musical evening.

Tickets are being sold by members of the choir or may be had at the door prior to the concert's opening.

Mrs. Paul Lindell Hostess To Club

Hill and Dale Garden Club members held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Paul Lindell on the Russell-Lander road, with an attendance of 24 members and two visitors.

Mrs. Luella Schoonover presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Stuart, and for devotionals read the Easter Story, with prayer by Mrs. Ira Johnson. Several communications were read, including an invitation to meet with the Oil City Garden Club on May 14. It was announced by the executive committee that three new members had been favorably voted into the club, Mrs. Raussey and Mrs. Bert Stocker, of Sugar Grove, and Mrs. Andrew Lindell, of Russell.

Mrs. P. W. Sharp presented an Easter arrangement of decorated eggs. The resignation of Mrs. Genevieve Johnson was received. The program was announced by Mrs. Schoonover, each member answering roll call by telling of some new flower or vegetable she is going to plant this year. "Song Bird Sanctuaries" was given by Mrs. Delmar Mickelson and "Massacred Birds for Millinery" by Mrs. Ralph Abbott.

Lunch was served, with Mrs. Henry Lindell and Mrs. Frank Shoppe presiding at a table centered with yellow daffodils and marigolds. Hostesses were Mrs. Mitchell Mahan, Mrs. Henry Lindell, Mrs. Frank Shoppe and Mrs. Paul Lindell.

School at North Warren Readies For An Operetta

The North Warren school is preparing to present the operetta "The Dream Boat" by Clara and Penn on Thursday afternoon and Friday evening, May 2 and 3, as a prelude to National Music Week.

About 100 children will participate in the performance and production of the show. Elaborate scenery is being painted by the seventh and eighth grade students, and mothers from the PTA are helping with the costumes.

The production is under the direction of Mrs. Joseph H. DeFrees, assisted by the teachers of the North Warren school.

Beautiful Tea For Miss Warren

Miss Helen Warren, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold C. Warren, who will be one of the early May brides, was honored Thursday afternoon when the Woman's Aid of First Presbyterian church gave a charmingly appointed and very largely attended tea in Memorial parlors of the church.

Decorations were carried out in yellow and old ivory, with silver. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. George Craft, Mrs. David Crosssett, Mrs. Everett Eddy and Mrs. E. E. Koebly.

Miss Warren received with her mother. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. B. V. Lesser and Mrs. Paul Arnold, and those who were aides to the bride-elect at the gift table were Mrs. Neil Woodruff and Mrs. John McLaughlin.

Incidental music during the reception was by Jason Barrell, organist, and, during the tea hour, by Miss Elizabeth Dunham, rising young pianist.

Mrs. Basil White, chairman of the social committee, had charge of the refreshments, aided by Mrs. F. H. Beardsley, Mrs. C. L. Thompson, Misses Marian Endress, Connie McNulty, Nancy Acherli, Mary Evelyn Hill, Mrs. Frank Richards and Mrs. Clifford Johnson. Decorations were in charge of Mrs. Donald Morgan.

Miss Warren announced the time of her wedding on May 4 at 3:30 o'clock at First Presbyterian church and stated she will observe open church.

One of the outstanding players in San Francisco is Earl Ackerman, a vice president of the American Contract Bridge League. Ackerman held the East cards in today's hand, and it was not difficult for him to read his partner's opening lead as a singleton.

Probably most players would have returned a club for West to ruff, but then the only other trick they could have taken would have been the ace of trumps.

After winning the first trick with the ace of clubs, Ackerman decided to return a spade. Declarer went up with the ace and led a trump which Ackerman won with the ace. Now he led a club for West to ruff, and West then opened the king of spades, defeating the contract.

Junior Baseball League Will Hold Meeting Tonite at 7:30; Schedule Will Be Presented

The Junior Baseball League, which opens May 21, will hold another meeting tonight in the editorial rooms of the Times-Mirror at 7:30. The complete schedule will be released for approval and the by-laws presented to managers and officials.

According to pre-season indications, interest in the newly-formed league has been steadily increasing. North Warren, Conewango, and the West Side have reported regular practice sessions and Stoneham and Clarendon have worked out several times.

The first games are scheduled for three weeks from tomorrow night. The complete schedule will be printed as soon as league officials approve it. Ed Lowrey, league proxy, has asked that every manager and official be present to discuss many important items of business. Players are also cordially invited.

Below is an editorial reprinted from the Youngsville Courier. The "Sportorial" was written by Ronnie Mason, batboy for the National Forge team last year, a member of the Youngsville football and basketball teams, and now a leading figure in the Youngsville Junior baseball team.

Earlier in the winter, men of the Warren Sports Boosters club began the enormous task of organizing a Junior Baseball League for the boys of 17 or under of Warren county. Now this laying out of a Junior league has taken a big hunk of many a busy man's time, because it presents big problems.

One of the largest problems is securing someone to back each team. Youngsville is very fortunate in having as their backer, Arthur F. Dyke. Mr. Dyke has consented to buying uniforms and other essentials for Youngsville's Junior team.

Bill "Pinky" Caffery has been named to pilot the Youngsville crew. "Pinky" is well known for his hurling for the National Forge before the war. He then served a considerable length of time in the Army.

Though we don't definitely know how many clubs will form the League, we expect about six with a roster of 16 players each by the middle of May.

Credit will go to the boy who comes out promptly to practice, putting heart and soul into the game; the one who feels he is personally responsible for helping to build this into a good thing; the one who is so grateful for this new-found opportunity to develop sportsmanship and skill, that he will work to put it across.

Right now, lots of boys feel that their summer work will interfere with baseball plans. Lots of you are holding up the "works" down at Wilder Field just trying to make up your mind. Lots of you are plain lazy; lots of you want to do the playing but not the "working out."

Now this really sounds like a great idea to me. Up in Warren, local baseball is fever, but, unfortunately, this epidemic hasn't spread down here yet.

Well, we've got a backer, we've got a coach; we've got a schedule—and I don't think we're immune, either, so let's see a couple dozen more boys turn out for "work outs" at Wilder Field.

YM-Church Has Softball Meet Tonight

The YMCA-Church softball league committee will meet tonight at eight o'clock at the YMCA to draw up plans for the coming season. The make-up of the league, eligibility rules, playing regulations, election of officers, scheduling, and other essential matters are on the agenda.

Interest in the league is increasing as the season draws near. Most of the teams have been strengthened considerably by the return of many servicemen, and indications lead to a close season.

The First Lutheran church, absent from the league because of the war, has returned and will present a very strong lineup. Others are the First Methodist, Grace Methodist, Sylvania and Thomas Coupling. The Baptists, who remained in the loop during wartime, may drop out. St. Joe's last season's winner, has disbanded to enter the City League.

All players, managers, and others interested are invited to attend the meeting tonight.

It has been estimated that the largest of the Egyptian pyramids weighs 6,000,000 tons.

CONEWANGO LEAGUE

In the last match of the regularly scheduled season, Ray Reed's "Boilermakers" won four points from Johnny Trevenen's "Little Giants". The Reed's high average man, Dick Smith, got off to a good start in his first two games, recording 202 and 232, but fell down in the final to finish with a total of 556. Captain Ray Reed contributed a 213 game. Timmie Creal was still in the groove for a "Little Giants" with a high game of 196 and total of 557.

The championship roll-offs begin tonight at 7:30 with the first half winners, the Pettibones, meeting the McComas, winners of the second half. The roll-offs will be run in customary World Series style—best four games out of seven. Three contests will be rolled tonight and the necessary remaining groups will be rolled on Wednesday. The annual Bowler's Banquet will be held on Thursday evening of this week.

"Shay" Font Is Elected Head Of City Loop

Progress to give Warren mush-ball fans the best that there is in the sport continued Friday night in the Recreation Center rooms where officers were elected and other matters taken care of.

"Shay" Font, chairman of the Sports Boosters Association softball committee and an ardent booster, was elected president of the revived softball committee and an ardent booster, was elected president of the revived loop, and "Flat" Bonavita was named secretary-treasurer.

To date, seven teams are entered in the league, and an eighth is expected. The teams, which will consist of nine players instead of the former ten, are Struthers Wells; City Merchants (Carbon's Gulf); Sons of Italy; National Transit; Adams Confectionery and Lunch; Irvine; Marconi Club; and Lupa Motor Sales, Irvine. The eighth team will probably be the K. of C.

Deadlines for team entries is Wednesday, when another meeting will be held at the Recreation Center at seven-thirty.

2906, 2901 Games Are Rolled at ABC

Buffalo, N. Y., April 29—(P)—The Simon Pures, champion Buffalo quintet, and the Lackawanna, N. Y., Lucky Strikes, two highly rated western New York teams, will attempt to dent standings in the American Bowling Congress' tournament tonight.

Standings in the meet remained unchanged for the seventh successive day following yesterday's competition.

The Little Known Myers Well Drillers of Coatesville, Pa., took honors for last night with a 2906 gross and nosed out the highly regarded Heineman's Major League No. 1 team from Hempstead, N. Y., which came in with a 2901.

May Represent Warren in New Baseball Loop

The possible entry of a Warren team in the newly-formed Inter-city Baseball League was announced today by "Red" Swanson, manager of the Struthers Wells baseball nine.

Currently holding drill sessions for his S-W crew, Swanson stated that he had been contacted by officials of the loop, which includes Titusville, Meadville, Corry, and Jamestown. He said that it is almost definitely assured that the Struthers outfit would enter the circuit.

Struthers will hold another practice session tomorrow at five o'clock on the State Hospital diamond. Among those who are connected with Swanson's crew to date are pitchers Hany Wyse, Bob Baker, and Mike Milkan; catchers Otis Marlett, Bob Wright, and Bob Peterson; Wamie Check, Ray Ritchie, Warren Toyer, Sparky Pollock, Bob Jensen, Tony Notoro, Ray Reed, Amol Olsen, Jiggs Bonavita, and Bud Mattheys.

Gerry Peterson will act as business manager of the team.

Swanson stated that he plans to attend a meeting of the Inter-city League Friday night at the Hotel Corry.

No Changes Made In Penn Tourney

No changes were recorded in the Double and Single Tourneys at the Penn Bowling Center over the weekend, and the leaders retained their top spots.

The three leaders in each event are: doubles, E. Hewitt—L. Lytle of Erie with 1207; E. Hitch—P. McLaughlin of Erie with 1168; and S. Fashano—J. Munella of Jamestown with 1164 singles; L. Johnson of Titusville with 622. P. McLaughlin of Erie with 610, T. Burgeson of Titusville with 610, and L. Lindquist of Jamestown with 605.

Highest single game rolled so far is a 269 by T. Laska of Jamestown.

SPORTS ACROSS PENNSYLVANIA

By Tom Shriver

Harrisburg, April 29—(P)—Edmund C. Wicht, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association is a fast mover. . . . Only last week Willard Schradley, sports editor of the Pottsville Republican, asked that something be done to protect the scholastic boxers. . . . His appeal was forwarded to Wicht.

Now the rotund ruler of school-boy activities in Pennsylvania announced that the matter will receive prompt attention. . . . In fact he declares that final action on regulations to govern and control scholastic leather-pushing will be taken at a meeting of the PIAA Boxing Committee at Erie. . . . He listed the date as "sometime in June." . . . Wicht added that growing popularity of the sport demanded "strictest supervision and control."

With The Coaches
Two important changes are noted in the state's scholastic coaching ranks. . . . Alden J. "Lefty" Danks has moved from Milton High to Bloomsburg State Teachers College. . . . John J. Connors switched his allegiance from Oil City High to Cathedral Prep in

BIDS INVITED FOR TIMBER
Sealed bids, for the purchase of approximately 1,500,000 board feet of elm, maple, hemlock, pine, ash, birch, cherry and beech suitable for saw logs on approximately 300 acres of State Game Lands No. 100, Waterford and Summit Townships, Erie County, are invited by the Pennsylvania Game Commission, Division of Game Land Management, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, to be received not later than 2:00 P. M., Monday, May 6, 1946.

Bids shall be submitted on the stumpage basis at so much per M. board feet, Scribners Decimal "C" Rule on forms to be supplied by the Commission. The successful bidder shall be required to sign an agreement form and to furnish such surety for the faithful performance of the contract as the Commission may require.

Bidding forms, samples of the agreement form, and details concerning the material offered for sale may be obtained from Field Division Supervisor Hayes T. Engler, 14 W. First Street, Box 107, Oil City, Pennsylvania; or Game Protector Clifford L. Ruth, 2105 Willow Street, Westerville, Pennsylvania; or the Pennsylvania Game Commission, Division of Game Land Management, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

The Commission reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to award the contract as deemed for its best interests.

Glass Age Hits Fishing

Glass rods—not the kind used for stirring highballs—are the latest thing in fishing tackle. Left to right, Janus DeHamer and Don Hellenga watch Loyal Ferris demonstrate revolutionary type of flyrod which can be bent and strained far beyond the point it would ever be put to in fishing.

Erie. . . Both changes will have their effect on the next scholastic season.

Danks had a great record at Milton. . . . His 1945 eleven was unbeaten and untied in eleven starts. . . . It won the Susquehanna Conference title with little trouble. . . . In 1939 his Milton team was all-unbeaten, and holder of the best defensive record in the state, only one touchdown being scored by the opposition.

Mid Atlantic Resumes
The Middle Atlantic League comes back to life next week after three years of war-enforced hibernation. . . . For President Elmer Daily it will be a personal triumph. . . . He worked hard to keep interest alive in the circuit, and now resumes with six strong clubs. . . . Erie is the only team that starts on May 7 that finished the 1942 season.

Col. Ray Stecker
Col. Ray Stecker, hero of Hazelton in the days when the Mountaineers ruled the scholastic basketball ranks, came home last week. . . . They had a big banquet for this year's Hazelton team and Col. Ray Stecker was the guest of honor. . . . A great athlete in high school days, he proved just as great as an officer in the recent world war. . . . Proving once more that athletic training is the best developer in the world for real Americans.

Chapter 14

FRONT-DE-BOEUF made a signal for the slaves to approach, and spoke to them apart, in their own language. The Saracens produced from their baskets a quantity of charcoal, a pair of bellows, and a flask of oil. While the one struck a light with a flint and steel, the other disposed the charcoal in the large rusty grate which we have already mentioned, and exercised the bellows until the fuel came to a red glow.

"Seest thou, Isaac," said Front-de-Boeuf, "on that warm couch thou shalt lie, stripped of thy clothes as if thou wert to rest on a bed of down. Now, choose between a scorching bed and the payment of a thousand pounds of silver; for by the head of my father, thou hast no other option."

"I will pay," he said, "the thousand pounds of silver. When and where must it be delivered?"

"Here," replied Front-de-Boeuf, "here it must be delivered—weighed it must be—weighed and told down on this very dungeon floor. Thinkst thou I will part with thee until thy ransom is secured?"

"And what is to be my surety," said the Jew, "that I shall be at liberty after this ransom is paid?"

"The word of a Norman noble," answered Front-de-Boeuf, "the faith of a Norman nobleman, more pure than the gold and silver of thee and all thy tribe."

"I crave pardon, noble lord," said Isaac timidly, "but wherefore should I rely wholly on the word of one who will trust nothing to mine?"

"Because thou canst not help it, Jew," said the knight, sternly.

The Jew groaned deeply. "Grant me," he said, "at least with my own liberty, that of the companions with whom I travel. They scorned me as a Jew, yet they pitied my desolation, and because they tarried to aid me by the way, a share of my evil hath come upon them; moreover, they may contribute in some sort to my ransom."

"If thou meanest yonder Saxon churl," said Front-de-Boeuf, "their ransom will depend upon other terms than thine. Mind thine own concerns, Jew, I warn thee, and meddle not with those of others."

"I am, then," said Isaac, "only to be set at liberty, together with mine wounded friend?"

"Shall I twice recommend it," said Front-de-Boeuf, "to a son of Israel, to meddle with his own concerns, and leave those of others alone?"

"Let my daughter Rebecca go forth to York," answered Isaac, "with your safe conduct, noble knight, and so soon as man and horse can return, the treasure shall be told down on this very floor."

"Thy daughter!" said Front-de-Boeuf, as if surprised. "By heavens, Isaac, I would I had known of this. I deemed that yonder black-browed girl had been thy concubine, and I gave her to be a handmaiden to Sir Brian de Bois-Guilbert."

"The yell which Isaac raised at this unfeeling communication made the very vault to ring, and astounded the two Saracens so much that they let go their hold of the Jew. He availed himself of his enlargement to throw himself on the pavement, and clasp the knees of Front-de-Boeuf.

"Take all that you have asked," said he, "Sir Knight—take ten times more—redeem me to ruin and to beggary, if thou wilt—spare my daughter, deliver her in safety and honour! She is the image of my deceased Rachel, she is the last of six pledges of her love—Will you reduce a father to wish that his only living child were laid beside her dead mother, in the tomb of our fathers?"

"I would," said the Norman, somewhat relenting, "that I had known of this before."

"Think not so vilely of us, Jews though we be," said Isaac, eager to improve the moment of apparent sympathy; "the hunted fox, the tortured wild-cat loves its young—the despised and persecuted race of Abraham love their children!"

"Be it so," said Front-de-Boeuf; "I will believe it in future, Isaac, for thy very sake—but it aids us not now. I cannot help what has happened, or what is to follow. Besides, why shouldst thou think evil is to come to the girl, even if she became Bois-Guilbert's booty?"

"There will, there must!" exclaimed Isaac, wringing his hands in agony; "When did Templar breathe aught but cruelty to men, and dishonour to women!"

"Dog of an infidel," said Front-de-Boeuf, with sparkling eyes, and not sorry, perhaps, to seize a pretext for working himself into a passion, "blaspheme not the Holy Order of the Temple of Zion, but take thought instead to pay me the ransom thou hast promised, or woe betide thy Jewish throat!"

"Robber and villain!" said the Jew, retorting the insults of his oppressor with passion, which, however impotent, he now found it impossible to bridle, "I will pay thee nothing—not one silver penny will I pay thee, unless my daughter is delivered to me in safety and honour!"

"Art thou in thy senses, Israelite," said the Norman sternly.

"I care not!" said the Jew, rendered desperate by paternal affection; "do thy worst. My daughter is my flesh and blood, dearer to me a thousand times than those limbs which thy cruelty threatens. No silver will I give thee, unless I were to pour it molten down thy avaricious throat—no, not a silver penny will I give thee. Nazarene, were it to save thee from the deep damnation thy whole life has merited! Take my life if thou wilt, and say, the Jew, amidst his tortures, knew how to disappoint the Christian."

"We shall see that," said Front-de-Boeuf, "Strip him, slaves, and chain him down upon the bars."

In spite of the feeble struggles of the old man, the Saracens had already torn from him his upper garment, and were proceeding to totally to disrobe him, when the sound of a bugle, twice winded without the castle, penetrated even to the recesses of the dungeon, and immediately after loud voices were heard calling for Sir Reginald Front-de-Boeuf. Unwilling to be found engaged in his hellish occupation, the savage Baron gave the slaves a signal to restore Isaac's garment, and, quitting the dungeon with his attendants, he left the Jew to thank God for his own deliverance, or to lament over his daughter's captivity, and probable fate.

Chapter 15

THE apartment to which the Lady Rowena had been introduced was fitted up with some rude attempts at ornament and magnificence, and her being placed there might be considered as a peculiar mark of respect not offered to the other prisoners. Here she was left to meditate upon her fate, until the actors in this nefarious drama had arranged the several parts which each of them was to perform.

It was about the hour of noon, when De Bracy, for whose advantage the expedition had been first planned, appeared to prosecute his views upon the hand and possessions of the Lady Rowena.

He saluted Rowena by doffing his velvet bonnet, but Rowena declined, by her gesture, the proffered compliment, and replied, "If I be in the presence of my jailor, Sir Knight—"

"Alas! fair Rowena," interrupted De Bracy, "you are in the presence of your captive, not your jailor; and it is from your fair eyes that De Bracy must receive that doom which you fondly expect from him."

"Sir Knight, I know you not, and no man wearing chain and spurs ought thus to intrude himself upon the presence of an unprotected lady."

"You are unjust, Lady Rowena," said the knight, biting his lips in some confusion; "yourself free from passion, you can allow no excuse for the frenzy of another, although caused by your own beauty."

"Courtesy of tongue," said Rowena, "when it is used to veil churlishness of deed, is but a knight's girdle around the breast of a base clown. I wonder not that the restraint appears to gall you—more if it were for your honour to have retained the dress and language of an outlaw, than to veil the deeds of one under an affectation of gentle language and demeanour."

"You counsel well, lady," said the Norman; "and in the bold language which best justified bold action, I tell thee, thou shalt never leave this castle, or thou shalt leave it as Maurice de Bracy's wife."

"Trust me, when I leave it shall be with one who has not learnt to despise the dwelling and manners in which I have been brought up."

"I guess your meaning, lady," said De Bracy, "though you may think it lies too obscure from my apprehension. But dream not, that Richard Cœur de Lion will ever resume his throne, far less that Wilfred of Ivanhoe, his minion, will ever lead thee to his footstool, to be there welcomed as the bride of a favourite. Know, lady, that this rival is in my power, and that it rests but with me to betray the secret of his being within the castle to Front-de-Boeuf, whose jealousy will be more fatal than mine."

"Wilfred here?" said Rowena, in disdain; "that is as true as that Front-de-Boeuf is his rival."

De Bracy looked at her steadily for an instant. "Wert thou really ignorant of this?" said he, "didst thou not know that Wilfred of Ivanhoe travelled in the litter of the Jew?"

"And if he is here," said Rowena, "compelling herself to a tone of indifference, though trembling with an agony of apprehension which she could not suppress, 'in what is he the rival of Front-de-Boeuf?'"

"Front-de-Boeuf, will push from his road him who opposes his claim to the fair barony of Ivanhoe, as readily, eagerly, and unscrupulously, as if he were preferred to him by some blue-eyed damsel! But smile on my suit, lady, and the wounded champion shall have nothing to fear from Front-de-Boeuf."

"Save him, for the love of Heaven!" said Rowena, her firmness giving way under terror for her lover's impending fate.

"It is thy love must buy his protection. I am not romantic fool enough to further the fortune, or avert the fate, of one who is likely to be a successful obstacle between me and my wishes. Use thine influence with me in his behalf, and he is safe; refuse to employ it, Wilfred of Ivanhoe, and thou thyself art not nearer to freedom."

"Thy language," answered Rowena, "hath in its indiffer bluntness something which can be reconciled with the horror seems to express. I believe, that thy purpose is, so wicked, thy power so great."

"Cedric's fate also depends on thy determination," said De Bracy; "and I leave thee to form it."

HITHERTO, Rowena had sustained her part in this tragedy with undimmed courage, but it was because she had considered the danger as serious and imminent but after cast her eyes around, as if to look the aid which was nowhere to be found, and after a few broken utterances, she raised her hand to heaven, and burst into a p p sion of uncontrolled vexation a sorrow. It was impossible to so beautiful a creature in such extremity without feeling her, and De Bracy was not a moved, though he was yet embarrassed than touched. "I do not look on so fair a face which is disturbed with agony, or those eyes when they are drowned in tears. I would she retained her original haughtiness of disposition, or that I had larger share of Front-de-Boeuf's three-tempered hardness of heart!"

Agitated by these thoughts, could only bid the unfortunate Rowena be comforted. But in the task of consolation De Bracy was interrupted by the horn, "hoarsely blown far and near which had at the same time alarmed the other inmates of the castle, and interrupted their several plans of avarice and offence. Of them all, perhaps, De Bracy least regretted the interruption; for his conference with the Lady Rowena had arrived at a point where he found it equal difficult to prosecute or to resist his enterprise.

SHEFFIELD NEWS

Sheffield, April 27—Work on the site of our proposed playground during the past week has made a noticeable difference in the appearance of that site. Although but few workers appeared Saturday much was accomplished. The use of a mull dozer for twenty-four hours Monday has changed the complexion of view considerably. We are indebted to Wylie Helm; Lefty McClellan, John Felton, Roy Swope and Stew Hoffman for the progress made on this project during the past week for through their tireless efforts much work was done.

BENEFIT DANCE

The benefit dance on Monday night, April 22 was a great success, for it brought nearly $200.00 to the fund created for our playground. The Progressive Woman's Club is to be congratulated for the great work they have done in starting movements such as this. There was a large crowd at the dance and the evening was thoroughly enjoyable, and it can be truthfully stated that the large crowd demonstrated their appreciation of fine music on several occasions. The orchestra was well received and no doubt will be brought back later. More occasions like this would bring to our town some life that has long been missing, a well worth while undertaking and one of which the Progressive Woman's Club can be justly proud.

GIRL SCOUTS

Fourteen Girl Scouts of the fifth and sixth grades of the Lincoln School, gave a Tea Wednesday afternoon, honoring the teachers of their school and their captain, Miss Edith Chambliss. The girls earned their hostess badge under the direction of their leaders Mrs. Palmer Taylor, and Mrs. Eugene Miller. The girls deserve much credit for their gracious manner in receiving their guests.

During the social hour the following program was given: Piano solo—"Chapel Chimes"—Dona Miller; poem—"Trees"—Rosemarie Kleinbauer; piano solo—"The Voice of Spring"—Jerriann Cashmere; piano solo—"Under The Willows"—Beverly Dalton; "Beautiful Dreamers"—played and sung by Patsy Weidner.

PARENTS' NIGHT

Monday evening, April 29th, will be Parents' Night at the high school. Regular classes will be for half hour periods. The pupils will report at 6:30. It is hoped that the parents will take this opportunity to visit these classes.

WOMAN'S CLUB

M. H. Deardoff of Warren will be the speaker at the meeting of the Woman's Club, Monday evening. Mrs. A. M. Gibson will be the hostess.

PARADE

Tuesday evening, April 30, a parade will march to the Playground. The high school band, the grade school Bugle Corps, escorted by pupils, Boy Scouts, and Firemen. Community singing will be led by Chester Sadler.

HOMEBUILDERS

Miss Eva Brown will be hostess to the Sunday School Class at her home, Tuesday evening.
